PORTUGUESE FIGHT.

MUTUAL CHALLENGES.

At yesterday's resumption of the case, in which two Portuguese summoned each other for assault, before Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy, Dr. F. M. G. O'Zorio gave testimony as to the condition of Barros, one of the party, when he examined him after the fight.

The complainant in the first summons was H. A. Barros, who was represented by Mr. C. A. S. P. Oza, while the other party was P. Oza, de Roza represented by Mr. P. G. Bennett.

Dr. O'Zorio, who appeared on subpoena, said that when he examined Barros about dinner time on the 28th. August he found that he was suffering from a number of wounds on his head. There were two bruises on both sides of the temple and a wound on the top of the head with a lot of contusion underneath it. There was a severe mark on the back of the neck.

In his opinion the bruises on the temple might have been caused by either being struck or by a fall. The cause of the head wound must have been the result of a blow from something hard. It could not have been done by a person's fists. A truncheon could have been the instrument used to cause the wound. There was not very much bleeding from the wounds but the man's condition was apprehensive, and he was rather dazed. Witness was not in any way of the opinion that the patient would die from the results of the blows but thought that there might have been a certain amount of concussion. Neither did witness think that there would be any after effects caused by the wounds. The mark on the back of the neck was presumably done by something that had no sharp edge.

Blood.

Referring to the wound on the top of the head witness, under cross examination, said that to have caused such a wound it would be necessary for the two persons to be at a certain distance from each other. If they had been near each other the head would have been split open, but the wound appeared as if it had been caused by the end of the instrument only striking the head, which suggested that they were far apart. As to the mark on the back of the neck, that depended on the position of the two. If, as suggested by Mr. Bennett, Roza picked up the piece of wood which he (Mr. Bennett) produced, and hit Barros, that in itself was an impossibility, as such a blow could not have been caused by a man lying on the ground. It could only have been done if Roza got up into a position in which he could he well balanced. The wounds on the temple was in witness' opinion caused by the fall.

Mr. Bennett, pointing to what he referred to as blood on the piece of wood, asked if it could still be examined as to if it were human blood or not, and if it were possible that that blood could have been the same as that from the wounds. Witness replied that on examination Dr. Minze might be able to say whether it was human blood or not, but witness could not say so himself.

she went out. When at the top of his stairs witness saw the younger Barros and his cousin, Figueredo, going up the stairs leading to their own house. Mrs. Roza asked witness "Who is that," and he then replied "Oh, the young imp." The young Barros then said, "You are an imp yourself, come and fight my big brother." Witness replied that he should send his brother down. Young Barros thereupon dashed into the house and then the two brothers came out together. They advanced towards witness for about 12 feet. The elder Barros was heard to say "Did you ask me if I was looking for trouble?" Witness said by this time got to the bottom of his stairs. Both the Barros's then pounced upon him and the younger one directed a blow at his stomach while the other hit him on the shoulder, knocking him down. The elder brother then bent over him and prepared to strike him. Witness made an endeavour to rise and when he had risen to a half sitting position this hand fell on a piece of wood. Picking this up witness struck out at his opponent. The elder Barros then retreated, and seeing an opportunity to rise witness got up and followed his man and struck him three times with the piece of wood. Before returning to his house witness dropped the wood. A few seconds later Mr. Remedios rushed in and told him that he ought to have behaved himself, as he was a man, and if he would not respect himself he should respect his family.

No Truncheon.

Mr. Remedios then said "You said that," and dashed out of the house again. Witness did not know what he was referring to when he made that remark. Some friends told witness a few days later that Mr. Remedios said that he had used a truncheon. Witness told Mr. Remedios that he was wrong, but the later having made the statement had gone too far to withdraw it again.

Cross-examined by Mr. Ruess, witness said that Mr. Remedios did not point to his hip pocket. Witness denied that he ever told anyone that he should not tell anybody about the truncheon. This was probably to substantiate his (Mr. Remedios's) story about his using a truncheon.

Mr. Roza's boy said that his master did not have a truncheon in the house nor a trouser pocket large enough to carry a truncheon.

After further evidence, Mr. Bennett closed his case.

His Worship reserved judgment.

ing removed. Witness replied
in the negative:

Roza. This was two days after the night. A number of bruises were found on his shoulder, and these might have been caused by the fall.

Mr. Roza's Evidence.

After the doctor's evidence Mr. Roza closed his case and Mr. Bennett put his client into the box.

Mr. Roza, deposed that at 7.30 p.m. on the 28th August he heard some of his children call out that some hot water had been thrown at them. Witness went to his back porch and there found Barrow at the back of his own house. Witness asked him what he meant by throwing water at his children and received the reply that they had been making a noise. Witness then invited him to go downstairs and settle the matter there.

His Worship: In other words you challenged him to fight?

Witness: We both challenged each other to fight.

Witness went downstairs and found nobody there. A few minutes after returning to the house heavy rain was falling.

This time witness wife and

In The Far East.

In China and the tropical East babies and young children are subject to much greater health risks than are those who live in America or Europe, for reasons associated with climatic conditions and environment. Every thoughtful parent knows this, and should take precautions accordingly.

One of the best safeguards for the health of your little ones is to be found in Baby's Own Tablets, a medicine especially prepared for the use of children, and guaranteed absolutely wholesome and safe for even the youngest infant. The following testimony to their merits comes from Mr D. L. M. Haniff, of Messrs Whiteaway Caldwell & Co, Ipoh, F.M.S., who writes:—

"My little son was subject to children's complaints, such as fever, stomach-ache, gripe, etc. I sought medical advice but all to no purpose. Then I tried Baby's Own Tablets and they made a wonderful change. My boy has no complaints now, has an excellent appetite, and is the very likeness of health."

The first effect of Baby's Own Tablets is to gently move the bowels. Then they cool feverishness, relieve indigestion, colic, cramp, or colds, check diarrhoea, soothe teething, pain, expel worms, quiet the nerves, promote healthy sleep, giving "Well-Children" all that a mother can desire. See John D. Williams' "The Baby's Own Tablets" Book, published by the same firm, 100, Strand, London, W.C.2.

CAMERA NEWS

IN THE HOME TOWN.—The Coolidges attend Sunday services at the "old church" in Plymouth. A general scene in the churchyard is pictured and it is interesting to note that secret service agents (arrows) are scattered through the little crowd. In the other picture Freidrich and Mrs. Coolidge are shown leaving church accompanied by the President's father and their son John.

BISHOP WEDS.—Rev. William Wilkinson, the famous Bishop of Wall Street, is here shown leaving Trinity Church New York, with his bride, Mrs. Pauline Travilla McNab. He is 76 and the bride 74. Rev. F. W. Goodman, at right, performed the ceremony.

SHE CAN SMILE.—Off the tennis court Helen Wills drops her solemn face and has a ready smile. This informal picture was taken at Forest Hills, Long Island, during a recess from the trying matches. With her is a young admirer, Elizabeth Hergrave.

THE LATEST.—Chicago chorus girls have started a new fad for the bathing beaches. They are wearing small likenesses of their favourite presidential candidates when they put on their swimming suits. This is Peggy O'Day of the "Artists and Models" company, who shows here that she is going to vote for John W. Davis.

THE BRAZIL REVOLT.—When Government troops approached Sao Paulo, Brazilian rebels turned loose an engine, running at top speed, to meet and greet them. Photo shows the reception the troops received. It came at Parana. Only three trainmen were killed.

RAILWAY SMASH.—The picture shows the debris of a train and destroyed cars after an express train ran into a burning car at Canton, Ohio. The driver was killed.

BIG ARMS HAUL.

INCLUDES 20
MACHINE-GUNS.

Some War Lord in the interior will doubtless learn with chagrin that the five large iron drums taken to the Police Station from the s.s. West-Carmania on Tuesday have now been opened, and the suspicions of the police verified by the discovery therein of as many as 20 machine-guns, 200 rifles, and 39,000 rounds of ammunition.

An application for the confiscation of this consignment will in due course be made before the Magistrate.

OPEN AIR CONCERT.

TO-MORROW'S
ATTRACTION.

The public of Hongkong have a fine opportunity of enjoying an open-air concert to-morrow evening, when at Volunteer Headquarters, commencing at 9.15, there will be an attractive vocal and instrumental entertainment, at the modest charge of 50 cents.

The band of the 1st. Bn. East Surrey Regiment will play a number of selections, and the Pipe Band of the Scottish Co., H.V.D.C., will also contribute to the programme. Well-known local artists will assist—Mrs. D. Reid, Mrs. N. Mathieson and Mr. G. A. Musitano with songs, and Mr. J. Zolensky with selected impersonations.

ARMED ROBBERY.

AT WEST POINT
YESTERDAY.

Armed robbers who entered No. 99a High Street, West Point, at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon took away with them money and property of the value of $46.

The floor was tenanted by Lo Hok-po, a school-master, and his cook, both of whom were intimidated with a revolver which one of the gang carried. When assistance arrived, the gang had cleared. The victims were found in the kitchen with their arms bound.

FLOATING CABARET.

According to a report published in the New York Herald and Tribune, an ocean liner, flying the British flag and fitted out as a cabaret ship, is anchored 15 miles off the American coast, serving passing yachtsmen and others as "a huge floating bar."

DAY BY DAY.

The s.s. Tiscandari, on arriving in Port this morning, reports that whilst on the way here from Sourabaya, two Chinese deck passengers died, whilst another jumped overboard and was drowned.

A fine of $10 or ten days' imprisonment was imposed on the master of the steam launch Kwong Chee, by the Marine Magistrate this morning, for being under way in the harbour at night without exhibiting the regulation lights.

HOCKEY.

YESTERDAY'S PRACTICE GAME.

The practice game played on the Marina Ground, Kowloon, last evening resulted in a draw. Colours scoring twice through Woodward and Evans, and Whites equalizing through Armstrong, the second of whose goals was the outcome of an individual dribble through the defence, followed by a shot high in the net which gave Bowser no possible chance.

The game was the first of the season for several of the players, but the pace was well maintained and the run of the game remarkably even. The neat stickwork of both forwards and defence, and the excellent passing and counter-attacking contributed not a little to the speed of the game. The Rev. N. Evans made a very efficient referee.

OUT OF LUCK.

Arraigned together before Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy this morning, on a charge of being in possession of a basket containing clothing suspected as having been unlawfully acquired, one of three defendants pleaded not guilty, the second likewise, whilst the third admitted the crime.

His Worship observed that had the third pleaded not guilty he would have been discharged, as there was no actual evidence in his particular case. "No two defendants," added his Worship to the second man, "you are clever enough for three. There is no evidence against you, are discharged."

Sentence of four weeks' hard labour was passed on each of the other two defendants.

Points About the Play.
Football of an extraordinary character was seen when Chelsea beat Oldham Athletic by 5 goals to nil. The victors scored four goals in four minutes, as a result of their remodelled team, which lacked Wilson, who is in hospital. Bucken, of Sunderland, has now scored his 200th League goal. Dennison (Brighton), McLean (Coltish), Ball (Bury), and Murry (Hearts) all did the hat-trick.

DEFENDANT ABSCONDS.

$2,000 BAIL ESTREATED.

At the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon Mr. R. E. Lindsell ordered the issue of a warrant for the arrest of Chung Kam, a foreman employed at the P.W.D., who failed to appear on a charge of obtaining various sums of money by means of false letters purporting to have been signed by Mr. E. M. Hazeland, architect.

The Magistrate, to Mr. H. S. Fitzroy (defendant's counsel): I understand the defendant has disappeared?

Mr. Fitzroy replied said that after listening to the evidence, he advised the defendant that there was no defence whatever and, if he continued to represent him, he (the defendant) would have to plead guilty to the charge. Furthermore, the defendant should make good the defalcations, if possible. "I have arranged with the father that this should be done," counsel went on, "but apparently the father, thinking that his son might still have to go to gaol, has not taken my advice." Mr. Fitzroy said there was no doubt in his mind that his client was guilty and he had made it clear to him that unless he acted under his advice he would not go on with the case. He wished it to be clearly understood that neither he himself nor the solicitor instructing him knew anything about the defendant having absconded.

The Magistrate estreated the defendant's bail of $2,000 and ordered that $1,500 of that amount be paid to the complainant as the latter had suffered some pecuniary loss. A warrant was issued for the man's arrest.

TWO-MINUTE TALKS A Daily Tonic
By ROBERT POWER

TWO MINUTES.

"I'll be back in two minutes!" grow into hours, and day succeeded week and months stretched into years. Only the mothers who wait realise how much two minutes may mean. Let the wanderers, who make hearts ache at home, remember this. It would have taken two minutes to have mended the microscopic hole in the dam through which one drop of water percolated. But it was unnoticed, and day by day the orifice enlarged. The drops grew to a trickle, the feeble stream became a steady rush of water. Till suddenly, with a thunderous roar, the dam burst, and inundated the country-side. A couple of minutes' work that may save vast expenditure.

Minutes are often lightly thought of because they seem so relatively unimportant. Yet they may be the hinge upon which turns the greatest events of life. The lesson is that no space of Time is too small to be called unimportant. Between the drawing of a breath and something may happen which will change the whole current of a life. "A yes" or a "no"; a dealing drug to the glass raised to the lips of the intended victim. Two minutes, and he reconciled to an intending to an actual murderer, until there came the last hours, when one by one the minutes pass, until but two remain.

It would have taken but two minutes for the son to have explained to the mother that he was in difficulties, needed advice and sympathy, and the saving altered fortunes made greater or touch of Mother's love. But—smaller, and the destined of they passed, and he went off, nations affected. and took ship, and became a wanderer. For her the minutes and may mean so much.

The Telegraph.

HONGKONG, 25th Sept., 1924.

TYPHOID CAUSES.

We were hoping that the reply to one of Dr. Koch's questions at Tuesday's meeting of the Sanitary Board would have disclosed the cause of the recent very sharp epidemic of typhoid fever in this Colony, which resulted in a considerable death-roll amongst both the Chinese and non-Chinese communities. It, however, did nothing of the kind. The Medical Officer of Health preferred to deal with the question in a general rather than a specific manner. This, we imagine, will not satisfy the public. It would appear as if, when the epidemic was at its height, investigations were started with a view to ascertaining its cause, but that with the decline in the number of cases, the task has been abandoned. This we do know—that when Dr. Pearce made his statement at the Sanitary Board meeting in July, he let it be known that the investigations were not then complete, not even as far as the Dairy Farm was concerned. Incidentally, the enquiries would almost appear to have been confined to this quarter, for Dr. Pearce himself admitted in July that he had not inspected other local dairies in his effort to discover the cause of the outbreak. At the time of which we are speaking, Dr. Pearce declared that "during the last fortnight so many cases have occurred that it has been evident that there has been some common source of infection." At that time, there was no effort made to show that this outbreak was merely the ordinary yearly incidence of the disease, which is the inference to be drawn from the statements made at last Tuesday's meeting of the Sanitary Board. It was rightly regarded as a specially severe, though, as events have turned out, a brief epidemic, the definite cause of which had not been established. What the public wants to know, therefore, is the Medical Officer's final opinion as to its origin; and it will not be content to allow the matter to become obscured by treating it in general terms.

There must have been a definite cause for this unusual outbreak. Even Dr. Pearce himself became convinced that the cases could be traced to a common source of infection. We suggest that he be asked at the next Sanitary Board meeting whether that source has been definitely discovered.

Coming to other points in Dr. Pearce's latest statement, we notice somewhat contradictory assertions compared with his previous utterances. On July 29th, he spoke of the Dairy Farm milk supply as "being the cause of the epidemic"—apparently not the possible cause, but the actual cause. On Tuesday last, however, he definitely declared that there had been "no evidence of a contaminated common food supply." In other words, the cases reported could not be attributed to contamination of milk, for instance. Yet, in face of that assertion, we have the Medical Officer now saying that he does not retract a little bit of what he uttered when he cast aspersions on the Dairy Farm methods. One might almost be forgiven for thinking that Dr. Pearce does not know his own mind on the subject. He first of all lends himself to the theory that the outbreak was caused by contamination of the milk supply, then asserts that there is no evidence of any common food supply being contaminated, whilst another of his statements at last Tuesday's meeting was to the effect that certain prevailing conditions in the Colony are sufficient to account for the disease, stressing this point by citing tables for eleven years showing that no single month during this period of the year has been without its quota of typhoid cases. These statements do not square. If this year's outbreak is merely due to the usual prevailing conditions, then the milk supply cannot be blamed. If, on the other hand, milk is the cause, then how can it be said that there is no evidence of a contaminated common food supply? There would appear further inconsistencies in Dr. Pearce's references to the water supply, but at the moment we cannot go into these. We think sufficient has been written to show that this question has been left in a very unsatisfactory position. Let us have the considered opinion of the Government on the reason for this recent severe epidemic—the definite (not possible) cause from which it sprung.

The New Germany.

There has been a good deal of evidence lately that German feeling has changed considerably, and the outlook of the people is quite different to what it was even two years ago. One aspect of this change, a welcome one, is the readiness to wipe off the war liabilities, and get back as soon as possible to normal. This necessarily involves the expansion of Germany's trade all over the world, and we had a message yesterday which set forth the obligations to the Fatherland under which Germans abroad are exhorted to conduct themselves. But the most important feature of this spirit which has taken a grip of the people is seen in other respects. There was the recent case of the Nationalist demand for a note to the Allies repudiating Germany's war guilt. Even though that faux pas has so far been avoided, it does not show that the people as a whole consider themselves responsible for the outbreak of war. The latest reflection of the new Germany is the demand that if the country enters the League of Nations, it shall be as a great Power. Two facts have to be recalled by those who might still feel bitter against our late enemies—if the League is to be anything of a success it must be impartial and must include Germany in this impartiality; and Germany's return to the status of a big nation is only a matter of time. Perhaps it will be best to accept the inevitable right away.

DAY BY DAY.

HUMANITY MAY ENDURE THE LOSS OF EVERYTHING; ALL ITS POSSESSIONS MAY BE TORN AWAY WITHOUT INFRINGING ITS TRUE DIGNITY—ALL BUT THE POSSIBILITY OF IMPROVEMENT.—Fichte.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Paokham arrived by the Kamo Maru to-day.

General Li Fook-tum has been appointed acting Mayor of Canton.

Yesterday's health return shows one Chinese case of typhoid fever.

A Canton report says the Merchant Volunteers' Committee has agreed to wait until to-day for the settlement of the arms question.

Amongst the passengers due here on October 5th by the Hakone Maru are Brigadier General F. Macnaghten and Mr. W. Sinclair.

For sleeping in Mr. C. A. Burford's servants' quarters without permission, an amah was fined $4, or seven days' hard labour, by Mr. E. W. Hamilton at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning.

Four junk masters, charged with failing to exhibit regulation lights whilst under way in the harbour, were each fined $10 or ten days' imprisonment by the Marine Magistrate this morning.

A married woman, who was charged before Mr. E. W. Hamilton, at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, with harbouring a 16-year-old girl on the 23rd inst., was formally remanded for one week.

The dead body of a Chinese, who had the appearance of having been in a very destitute condition, was found hanging from an iron gate at the West Point premises of the Kowloon Godown Company. The deceased is presumed to have committed suicide.

"What's Your Hurry?" is the feature attraction at the Coronet Theatre again to-day. This picture shows Wallace Reid in one of the most dazzling roles of his career. Besides the excitement, it offers also a charming love interest. Pretty Lois Wilson is the leading woman.

It is reported from Canton that in order to raise funds for military purposes, a number of official posts have been sold by auction at the Civil Governor's office. The post of Magistrate for Hekshan district is said to have fetched $10,000 and that for Tungkoon district $8,000.

In connection with the case occurring in Aberdeen Harbour on Tuesday night in which armed robbers stabbed a boatwoman and threw her little son into the water, to-day's report from the Government Civil Hospital is to the effect that the woman succumbed to her injuries this morning. It will be recalled that after the crime a man was arrested who was alleged to have been one of the culprits.

On each of the charges of refusing to pay his tram fare and assaulting the conductor, a Chinese was fined $10 by Mr. R. E. Lindsell at the Central Magistracy to-day. The evidence stated that the man got on to a rear platform of the tram at the Central Market. He pushed the conductor when the latter said he would have him arrested if the fare were not paid. His Worship said that obviously the defendant was endeavouring to take a short free ride between the Central market and Sincere's store.

At the temporary Union Church building, Jordan Road, last night a most enjoyable social gathering was held, the Rev. J. Horace Johnston presiding over a large attendance. An excellent musical programme was submitted, the vocalists being Miss McGill and Mr. G. McLeod, whilst Dr. McKie provided violin solos, and Mrs. Jenner contributed recitations. Tea and refreshments were served during an interval, whilst brief addresses were delivered by the Rev. G. R. Lindsay (St. Andrew's Church), Rev. J. K. Macdonald (Union Church), Rev. Clouston Perri (Wesleyan Church) and Rev. Norman Peel (Seamen's Institute).

CORRESPONDENCE.

(To the Editor of the "Hongkong Telegraph.")

Macao Films.

Sir,—Amongst local cinemagoers great disgust prevails owing to the pictures reproduced here being advertised as first-rate, when they are simply everyday pictures. I learn that the local cinema is under the control of one in Hongkong and I wish to protest against the prices demanded for pictures which have nothing out of the ordinary.

Another matter which deserves special attention is the fact that the local firm, Gaspar and Co., who have been introducing to Far-East Portuguese films, are in an awkward position owing to the exorbitant price demanded for the cinema for exhibiting the films for two nights—films which without great trouble were shown in Hongkong. I take this as bad feeling towards this enterprise, or, worse, towards the Portuguese Colony. Months ago the same concern paid to this cinema a regular price for the exhibition of another film, and now only a short time has passed and they want to charge double, which means the whole profit would go to the cinema.

I hope that something will be done concerning this matter.
Yours etc.
PORTUGUESE.
Macao, Sept. 24th, 1924.

MALINI HERE.

A TIP TO THE BROKERS.

Malini, the world-famous magician, is again in Hongkong after an absence of several years. And he is as smart and cunning as ever. Yesterday, he was amongst the broker fraternity in Ico House Street, where he had these gentlemen soon guessing. Surrounded as he was by folk always on the look-out for "a good thing," he was asked what would be the next stock to boom in Hongkong. Quick as lightning, Malini was soon in command of the situation. Getting several of the brokers to each hold a pencil gripped firmly at the ends with both hands, he produced a ten-dollar note and with this limp piece of paper he struck smartly at the centre of the pencils in turn, when, lo and behold, the pencils were all smashed to smithereens by the mere force of the blow with the banknote! Then, turning to the amazed brokers, Malini dramatically declared:—"Pencils are now the best stock in Hongkong, because, as you see, there's now a shortage of them!"

This is only one of Malini's thousands of little tricks with which he diverts his friends when they casually meet. He showed the Telegraph staff many others, equally astonishing, this morning, until we had to ask him to leave the premises, as he was holding up the day's work! But his really big tricks are reserved for the special show which he is giving at the Theatre Royal on Saturday, October 4th. Then he guarantees to mystify the whole Colony. Make a note of the date and keep it open.

WINE DUTY.

A CHARGE WHICH FAILED.

How a Chinese is alleged to have endeavoured to cheat the Revenue Department of duties due on Chinese wine brought to the office for its weight to be checked was related at the Central Magistracy this morning. It was stated by Mr. Taylor that whilst the Revenue Officer's back was turned, the defendant poured a certain quantity of the contents out from two sample jars; but, on being perceived, he poured it back again. It was thought that a charge of possession of the difference which he tried to defraud the Department of would be admissible under the circumstances.

His Worship said that the man could not be considered to have been in actual possession. Possibly a charge of fraud might be taken as an alternative. Mr. Taylor said he had looked up the Liquors Ordinance, but could find nothing therein to provide for this offence. "There is no case, then," his Worship said, and accordingly discharged.

MOTOR BOATS.

MARINE MAGISTRATE INCREASES FINES.

No fewer than five coxswains of motor boats playing in the harbour appeared before the Marine Magistrate (Lieut.-Com. G. F. Hole, R.N.) this morning, charged with being under way without a certificated engineer on board.

The motor boats concerned were the Ting Sang, Whampoa 1, A. Tung Cheong, Moonraker No. 4, and Phoenix, and in each case the coxswain pleaded guilty.

The Marine Magistrate remarked that such cases were overabundantly recurring, adding that it was evident that the fine he had been inflicting for such an offence was not sufficient to act as a deterrent. He would, therefore, double it.

A fine of $10, or 10 days' imprisonment was imposed in each case.

THIEF ROBBED.

"SERVES YOT RIGHT."

"I left the rice behind a heap of rubbish, and somebody stole it," stated a Chinese to the Court this morning whilst being charged with the theft of two bags of rice from the Hop Cheong shop.

"Serves you right," rejoined Mr. R. E. Lindsell.

His Worship, on being informed that defendant had $16 on him, ordered that this money be turned over to the shop as compensation, whilst he inflicted a sentence of six weeks' hard labour on the defendant.

MOROCCAN CAMPAIGN.

GENERAL ADVANCE COMMENCES.

Madrid, Sept. 24.

Official despatches from Morocco show that the Spanish advance with the object of relieving Shoshuan, where a Spanish garrison of three thousand is invested, has begun. Gen. De Rivera has reorganised the expeditionary force, numbering forty thousand men, which recently reinforced the army of eighty thousand already in Morocco.

Aeroplanes are proceeding the troops, distributing manifestos threatening that the rebels will be severely punished and promising that the loyal tribes will be rewarded.—Reuter.

COMEDY AND DRAMA.

AT THE STAR THEATRE.

Comedy and drama share this evening's Star Theatre programme—comedy in the shape of Charlie Chaplin's intensely amusing picture "The Fireman," and drama in the shape of Winston Churchill's great society story, "The Inside of the Cup."

Charles Chaplin, most famous of all screen actors, needs no introduction to cinema-goers, but Winston Churchill, it might be explained is not the former British Cabinet Minister, but an American author very well-known in his own land and to a certain extent in Britain. "The Inside of the Cup" is one of his best stories, dealing as it does with the conflict between rich and poor in a small town and the humbling of an arrogant local magnate. Essentially human in every detail, "The Inside of the Cup" bears the imprint of a great writer. Needless to say it has been filmed with fitting skill.

About the "Fireman" it is almost unnecessary to say anything at all. Charlie Chaplin's name conveying its own warranty. The Star Theatre will show this big double bill for the next three days.

PREHISTORIC REMAINS.

Disappearance of Old Stones.

In consequence of the contin-ed disappearance of stones from the prehistoric hut circles on Dartmoor, Mr. Struben, the owner of Spitchwick Manor, has threatened the Newton Abbot Rural

District Council with legal proceedings. He states that stones have been taken from the prehistoric remains at Dartmoor, and that the probability is that they have been used for repairing roads.

The contractors to the county council and rural district councils have had strict instructions that these remains must not be disturbed, and they state that the instructions have been carefully carried out. The rural district council decided to take steps to impress on the contractors and their workmen the importance of leaving these relics undisturbed.

PLANE TO CONSTANTINOPLE.

Voyage of 1,500 Miles in 40 Hours.

An aeroplane service from London to Constantinople will be started shortly, and it is intended to do the journey of about 1,500 miles in 40 hours.

It is one of several services about to be inaugurated, and is mentioned in the annual report of the Air Ministry on Civil Aviation.

The last hops, from Belgrade to Bucharest and then to Constantinople, will be covered by night.

Troubles with the Turkish Government have delayed matters a good deal, as have complications with Germany concerning another project, which would have extended the Istanbul flights from Cologne to Prague, directly connecting London with Czechoslovakia and later with the Adriatic.

The French intend to link up by aeroplane Marseilles and Dakar, in Senegal, and other portions of their African Colonies.

OTHER ROUTES.

Britain, in addition to an agreement with Czechoslovakia for a service to Prague has made arrangements with the Swiss Government to extend the London-Paris route to Zurich, through Basle.

An experiment for facilitating postal communication between Belfast and America has been so far successful that negotiations in progress for a daily aeroplane service between the capital of Northern Ireland and Plymouth which will enable merchants in that city, as well as in Manchester and other towns, to reply to business correspondence with considerably less delay.

Apart from trivial occurrences only 20 accidents occurred during the year ending March 31 to registered British air-craft, six resulting in loss of life and one passenger being killed.

During the same year transport services as operated by the Government, and private concerns, had flown 1,000,000 miles.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN ENGLAND.

out thought is labour lost, thought without learning is perilous." And Pope, the poet, said: "A little learning is a dangerous thing." I am sure you will appreciate the truth of the sayings, and that your motto in your studies will be "Thorough."

Now, it is no doubt a fact that one of your main objects in seeking knowledge is "self-improvement," which is a most laudable one, for by developing and improving yourselves you will not only benefit yourselves, but also your neighbours. My advice to you, therefore, is to apply yourselves assiduously to your studies, so that you may be prepared when the time and opportunity comes to serve your country. Great opportunities await you for promoting the welfare of China and improving the conditions of life of its vast population. (Hear, hear). As doctors of medicine you can bring health and comfort to the sick, the suffering and the poor. As experts in public health, you can help the cities and villages to be much more fitted for human habitation than they have ever been before. As teachers, whether educational or scientific, you can remove ignorance and bring to others the benefit of that knowledge which you have acquired. Many opportunities await you for developing the latent potentialities of China. Think of the opportunities for the engineer in mining, road-making, bridge-building, railway construction, inland navigation, electric power works, water works, and many other works of public utility. Mechanical development is in its infancy in that great country. Its raw materials await exploitation; factories and workshops should arise, and will arise to give employment to its vast population, its internal development will lead to the interchange of commodities with other countries, calling in existence commercial houses, banking institutions, a maritime service, and all the other services so essential to an industrial and trading community.

The Golden Rule.

But you should not only confine yourselves to studies connected with material things. "Leaves and fishes" are necessary for us all. We all have to earn our "bowl of rice," so that we cannot entirely escape anxiety on that material account. But it is most important that you should do all in your power to develop your character and cultivate a spirit of unselfishness and patriotism, and thereby seek to help China in maintaining her position amongst the great nations of the world. (Applause). Confucius in all his teachings emphasises pre-eminently man's duty to his neighbour and taught us: "Do not unto others what thou dost not wish done unto thyself." He thereby forestalls what is known as "The Golden Rule." "Do to others as you would have others do to you." Our great teacher told us to "Hold loyalty and sincerity as our first principle." And what can be a higher principle than doing one's duty, and, above all, one's duty to one's country, and for the benefit of the human race. Where personal interests seem to conflict with what is for the good of one's country, we should sacrifice personal considerations. Imbued with right principles, fortified by a wider knowledge, and with intellects cultured and developed in the best schools, you will on your return to China be well qualified to take part in the governance of that country. Aided by the education you have received in this country, and retaining the good qualities and characteristics of a long, inherited civilization; keeping before you the public weal in preference to personal gain or ambition, I would ask you now to pledge yourselves to do your utmost to promote the welfare of the people of China.

"Think what we are, and for what ends designed;
How we may best through life's long mazes wind;
What we should wish for—how we may discern
The bounds of wealth, and its true uses learn;
How fix the portions which we ought to give
To friends, relations, country—how to live
As fits our station; and how best pursue
What God has placed us in this world to do."

(Loud applause).

Before leaving to return to London, Sir Robert Ho Tung, Lady Ho

Tung, his son and daughter, and Mr. Chu, with the members of the Chinese Legation who had accompanied him, posed together with the students for a photograph.

There are about fifty students present at the Conference this year out of perhaps two hundred in the country at the present time. Lectures by well-known people are being arranged on different days, and there is always a programme of outdoor sports.

GRAND LODGE OF FREEMASONS.HALL STONE MEDAL FOR HONGKONG.

At the Quarterly Communication of the United Grand Lodge of England, Freemasons, the report which Sir Alfred Robbins, P.G.W., President of the Board of General Purposes, has submitted to the Duke of Connaught as Grand Master, of his recent Masonic mission to the United States, was received. The report gives a complete itinerary of his journey. In conclusion the writer says:

"In every gathering I attended—Masonic, public, and social alike—the Union Jack was flown side by side with the Stars and Stripes, and the English National Anthem was sung as well as the American. . . . I made clear to every Grand Lodge addressed what were the fundamental principles for which our body stands, and from which in no circumstance will it depart. To each I gave an absolute assurance that the United Grand Lodge of England stands as firmly as it ever did by the principle of reverence and absolute recognition of an Almighty Being, with a revelation of His will; and that it was never less likely than now to depart from this fundamental base. . . . I returned with the full assurance that the American Freemasonry we recognize in the various jurisdictions is as true as is English Masonry to the essential principles and tenets of the craft."

In its report the Board of General Purposes strongly condemns the practice of "chain prayers" which has once more sprung into vogue. The recipient is invited to copy a particular prayer and to forward it to a number of his acquaintances, this being associated with a promise if carried out, and a threat if disregarded. This the third or fourth time this practice has been brought before Grand Lodge.

The Grand Lodge Library and Museum has received a number of interesting and valuable additions, including a series of MSS., both in folio and quarto, of Dr. William Stukeley, the gift of Mr. E. H. Dring, past grand deacon. The MSS. now presented to the library range in date from 1717 to 1702. They show that Stukeley was interested in many subjects connected with Freemasonry, such as the architecture of King Solomon's Temple, and the illustrations appended by him to the various works are wonderful examples of draughtsmanship, while many of them are signed and dated.

Hall Stone Medals were presented to the representatives as follows: Burlington, No. 99, London; Tranquillity, No. 105, London; Victoria in Burma, No. 839, Burma; Marquess of Dalhousie, No. 1,108, London; Providence, No. 1,168, Hongkong; Athenaeum, No. 1,401, London; Douglas, No. 1,725, Malden; Lullingstone, No. 1,837, Wilmington; Hirma, No. 2,410, London; Ensor Drury, No. 3,278, Sheffield; Doric, No. 4,073, Bradford (Yorkshire); Marcelliana, No. 4,450, London; Old Hall, No. 4,601, Liverpool; and Rangoon University, No. 4,603, Burma. The two last-named have only been founded and consecrated during the present year.

Warrants for 24 new lodges have been granted since the last Quarterly Communication of Grand Lodge. Nine of these will meet in London, and of the remainder, one each at Bingley, Blackpool, Bury (Lancashire), Crosshill (Yorkshire), Croydon, Deal, Leicester, Letchworth, St. Agnes (Cornwall), Sale, Seatonhorpe, Staple Hill, Stoyning, West Bromwich, and York. Perhaps the most interesting point in connection with this list is that one of the London lodges to be consecrated is named the Old Harrovian and will consist of the alumni and the past and present staffs of Harrow School.

CHINESE STUDENTS IN ENGLAND.

SIR ROBERT HO TUNG'S VISIT.

Sir Robert Ho Tung, accompanied by Lady Ho Tung and his son and daughter, was the guest of honour at a reception given on the afternoon of Aug. 23 at High Leigh, Hertfordshire, where the Annual Conference of the Central Union of Chinese Students in Great Britain is now in progress, says the China Express and Telegraph.

Sir Robert Ho Tung was much interested in the institution, and made a thorough tour of the buildings and grounds, chatting freely with all the students. At 4 p.m. tea was served in one of the large conservatories.
Later the students assembled in the debating hall, where Mr. Chao-Hsin Chu, the Chinese Acting Minister in London, addressed them. He said he supposed that every diplomatic representative thought his students were better than those of any other nation. "I certainly do," he said.

I do because I know full well how hard-working you are, and, further,
what a really high standard of life and conduct you maintain. I not only know this from my own personal experience, but because one may live from one year to another and never hear of any public indication of any sort that the behaviour of the Chinese students in this country is not what it ought to be. I think you deserve this tribute.

I am only sorry that the number of Chinese students in this country does not show a tendency to increase. Very largely we are living on hope. We are hoping that when the British Boxer Indemnity is applied to purposes other than the present, students will probably benefit in some form or other. It may not be at once, but it ought to be in time to come. No one can maintain that the number of students who come over here at the present time is at all proportionate to the number who ought to come. Only the other day I noticed that a neighbouring Far Eastern country, with whom we are on the most friendly relations, viz., Siam, was, like yourselves, holding a sort of summer camp for its students.
There were 200 of them. When you compare the size of the two countries, and the needs of the two countries, you will, I am sure, agree with me that any step we can take to promote an increase in the number of our young men and women who come over here to study ought to be taken by everyone interested in the welfare of China.

There is, of course, one comment which can be made on the relative paucity of our students in this country, and it is that the number of British students in China is also much smaller than it ought to be.
The East has a good deal which it can teach the West, and, frankly,
I do not think that proper appreciation of China and her people can be acquired except by an understanding of our language. For that reason I have always felt that while we Chinese come as students to this country the British people would do equally well to send a larger number of their students to China. May I repeat some advice given you before, but of which I am sure you will realise the importance? Do not neglect your own language while you study abroad. You will find a great use for your own Mother tongue when you return home and work at home. You will have to adapt to Chinese conditions all the knowledge
you have acquired here.

A New Patron.
Turning to their guests, Mr. Chu said that Sir Robert Ho Tung was the greatest philanthropist in Hongkong. He had consented to become a patron of the students' union.

(Loud cheers). He welcomed Sir Robert Ho Tung because he was a great patriot and because of the keen interest which he had always taken in the welfare of the Fatherland. (Applause). In all these questions his name was a household word in China. Lady Ho Tung was well-known for her exhibition of silkworms and their products, in which the King and Queen of England had taken great interest.
She had set up a number of farms in Kowloon and the exhibition of her silk products at Wembley had aroused great interest. He described Sir Robert Ho Tung as a king of commerce and finance in Hongkong, and declared that both he and Lady Ho Tung had done much to increase the silk industry in China. (Applause). Mr. Chu concluded by paying a warm tribute to Mr. Ho Tung, junior, who had come over to attend the Students'
Congress in London.

Value of Foreign Travel.

Sir Robert Ho Tung, in reply,
said: I am glad of this opportunity of being able to express my admiration for your enterprise in coming so far from home in pursuit of knowledge. There is no gain-saying the fact that foreign travel while one is still young is a great advantage. Most of our knowledge we must necessarily glean from books, from the works of men who were pioneers in research and leaders of thought in their day and generation. But there is a great deal of our knowledge which comes from actual personal observation, from contact with our fellow-men all over the world. In this way we get the "human touch," which can never be acquired by poring over books. This form of acquiring knowledge which is absorbed into our inner consciousness without sensible effort, is probably the most attractive. There cannot be the slightest doubt that you students who are attending universities and schools abroad are coming under influences which will not only shape your careers in after-life, but also the destinies of your families and of China. It was a Roman dramatist who wrote that "True wisdom consists not in seeing what is immediately before our eyes, but in the possibilities of the future that lies before us." As you are all younger than myself, I may, perhaps, be allowed to offer you some words of advice. This advice, I am sure, you will accept in good part as coming from one who is heart and soul in sympathy with you in your efforts for self-improvement. The older I become, the more I believe in what Confucius said: "Youth must be held in respect, for to youth belongs the future," and may the future of you all, gentlemen, be most prosperous and worthy of your race. (Applause).

"A Little Learning."

First of all, then, I would advise you, while acquiring the best that can be learned in Western culture, to try to retain the best traditions of China, traditions which are,
indeed, so worthy of preservation.
(Cheers). Bacon, the English philosopher, writes in one of his best known essays: "Read not to contradict and confute, nor to believe and take for granted, nor to find talk and discourse, but to weigh and consider." In other words, this eminent Englishman's dictum is to the effect that your study should be directed to the development of your judgment. This practically expresses the view of our great teacher Confucius, who many centuries before said: "Learning with-
